ZANDBERGEN BROS., INC., "Tulipdom" OYSTER BAY, N. Y.

Due to the fact that a new classification of tulips and daffodils are being prepared by the Royal Horticulture Society, which will be used for the first time in 1949, we decided not to print a new catalog this year but prepare a more complete and up to-date book for the 1949 season.

No worthwhile new varieties within reasonable price have come out this year and there will be no change in prices.

TULIPS - How Many Bulbs to Order for Beds of a Specific Size

Below we give the number of bulbs needed to plant a circular bed of the dimensions stated. Plant outside rows first, placing the bulbs 3 inches from edge of bed. It is advisable to plant the outer rows more closely than those toward the center.

Diameter of bed	6 in. apart	8 in. apart	12 in. apart	Diameter of bed	6 in. apart	8 in. apart	12 in. apart
3 feet	28	16	7	12 feet	452	255	113
4 feet	48	27	12	13 feet	528	299	132
5 feet	80	44	20	14 feet	612	347	153
6 feet	112	64	28	15 feet	704	398	176
7 feet	152	87	38	16 feet	804	453	201
8 feet	200	113	50	17 feet	904	511	226
9 feet	256	143	64	18 feet	1016	573	254
10 feet	320	177	80	19 feet	1132	638	283
11 feet	380	214	95	20 feet	1256	707	314

To arrive at the number of bulbs required for an oval bed, add the length and breadth and divide by two, using the result as the diameter in above table. A bed 6 feet wide by 8 feet long will require the same number of bulbs as a round bed 7 feet in diameter. ($6 + 8 = 14$; divided by 2 gives 7.)

Please Note . . .

Were we permitted to have our way, we would no longer offer a good many so-called "old-fashioned" favorites. Many quite reasonably priced newer varieties are far ahead of them in every respect. We do not offer novelties of questionable merit. Once you see a variety offered in our catalog, you can be sure that it deserves your consideration and trial.

We are tempted to pronounce Tulips the most spectacular of all spring flowers for a number of reasons. In the first place, they bring us a blaze of colors when the heart is starved by the drab and dreary winter months. Their range of colors is perfectly amazing, from clear white to deepest purple and maroon, including many superb vari-colored combinations. By a judicious selection of early, midseason and late varieties, Tulips may be enjoyed for the best part of six weeks outdoors, with an additional two months added when the gardener forces suitable sorts indoors.

CULTURE

Tulips should not be planted where they have been grown for two years previously. They do best in fresh soil or in beds where the soil has been changed. Growing them in the same place for more than two years will lead to failure in the end.

Do not use fresh stable manure at planting time, for it is injurious to the roots. Well-rotted manure will prove beneficial. Bonemeal or dried sheep manure also can be used, about three handfuls to the square yard. This must be thrown on top of the soil before planting.

Nearly all Tulips should be planted outside about 5 inches deep and 6 inches apart, according to the size of the bulb. They should be planted four to six weeks before severe frost sets in. For best results, do not mulch them until after the soil has become frozen, to keep out mice, etc., and do not mulch them too heavily; $\frac{1}{2}$ inch will prove quite enough. Old cow manure, peat moss, salt hay or leaves may be used for this purpose.

Darwin Tulips

The chief characteristics of the Darwins are the perfect cupped shape of the flowers, fleshy substantial petals, tall stems, and bright colors ranging through all the shades of pink and red to purple. There are certain slaty blues and blue-violets that might almost be called blue, while the black Tulip is nearly realized in some of the dark maroon varieties. There are comparatively few pure yellow varieties. Most Darwins can be forced by the middle of February, many of them even earlier, provided that they are potted as soon as received.

AFTERGLOW

MARGAUX
See page 7

The bulbs must be set farther apart than is the case with the early Tulips, and plenty of room on the benches must be given when vigorous growth begins. They should be grown slowly under a moderate temperature. Too high a temperature should be avoided, or poor flowers result.

Nearly all varieties, but especially the mauve-colored ones, lose their true color and become much paler when forced.

An asterisk (*) preceding the name indicates that it may be successfully forced. The figure following indicates the relative time of flowering. All varieties of Tulips, Narcissus and Hyacinths are listed in the order of their respective merits, regardless of price. The variety which, in our opinion, is the choicest of its class is listed first, the second best is second, etc.

BREEDER TULIPS

Discarded by their originators, the old Dutch gardeners, because they had no stripes or feathers, the Breeders were more or less neglected and grown only in some obscure corners, until an appreciation for the so-called "art colors" awakened. With the revival of the taste for bronze, brown and buff tones, attention was drawn to these Tulips, which have now become the most popular late Tulips. And they deserve their popularity, not only for their peculiar and odd colors, but also for their great lasting qualities. In size and height they frequently surpass even the finest Darwins.

COTTAGE TULIPS

The term "Cottage" Tulips is of quite recent origin. The fact that they are probably the longest lived and most lasting of all Tulips caused many of them to be planted around the country houses and cottages of England and France. All colors imaginable can be found here, and most varieties have long stems, some gracefully drooping. They form excellent cut-flower material and are unsurpassed for garden decoration.

White

TRIUMPH TULIPS

Triumph Tulips are a new race, hybrids of Single Early and Darwin Tulips. From the Single Early parents they inherit earliness and from the Darwins stateliness. The result is something entirely novel and worthwhile—Tulips that bridge the gap between the early and late kinds. They bloom about ten days earlier than the May-flowering varieties. They have strong, tall stems, and some of the most beautiful colors are found in this class. All force readily.

PARROT TULIPS

When still in bud the flower looks somewhat like the head of a parrot, hence the name. Blooms are brilliantly colored and artistically shaped, which makes them particularly appealing for home decoration. They may be forced slowly, by late February; for this purpose only strong bulbs should be used.

- BLUE PARROT 3. Sport of Darwin Tulip Bleu Aimable. Lavender shaded steel-blue. An immense flower with ruffled edge instead of the deeply lacinated edge of most Parrot varieties. Strong stem. Height, 20 inches. $3.20 per dozen, $25 per 100.
- FANTASY 3. A sport from the well-known Darwin Tulip Clara Butt. Very large flower carried on a strong, erect stem. Inside, the cup is velvety rose color, showing well through the open flower. The immense flower is brilliant rosy red with white center marked blue and is almost square in shape when fully open. One of the most admired Tulips in this class. Height, 26 inches. $3.10 per dozen, $24 per 100.

SINGLE EARLY TULIPS

Just as the daffodils pass out of the garden picture, these early Tulips enter, to help prolong spring joys. This group includes some of the gayest-colored of all Tulips. Most early Tulips grow readily in pots or pans indoors. All furnish excellent material for outdoor planting.

White

- WHITE BEAUTY 4. The finest in this class, but also the latest to bloom. The beautiful globular flowers are of great size and substance. A sport of Pink Beauty and a worthy companion to it in the border. Height, 12 inches. $1.95 per dozen, $15 per 100.

THE large trumpet Daffodils, joined by the medium-sized and small members of the Narcissus family, make the first large showing of color among spring-flowering bulbs. All the exquisite tints from orange-red to golden yellow, sulphur, cream and snowy white are represented, with newer sorts of apricot and pinkish tones. Blue-flowering bulbs combine well with them.

NARCISSUS or DAFFODILS

The terms Narcissus and Daffodil are interchangeable, although there exists a tendency to apply the term Narcissus to the small-flowering groups like Poeticus, Leedsii, Barrii and Incomparabilis, while the larger-flowered Trumpet varieties are most frequently referred to as Daffodils.

Soil and Its Treatment. Narcissus will thrive in any ordinary garden soil but prefer a deep, rather moist, sandy loam. When the soil is of a dry and sandy nature, it should be deeply dug, if possible at least a season before planting the bulbs, with composted leaves or well-rotted cow manure added and a vegetable or annual crop grown on the ground. Before the bulbs are planted, a sprinkling of lime should be spread on the surface and then raked in. It is also beneficial to add bonemeal at the rate of 1½ ounces to the square yard while digging the soil. Never use fresh manure of any kind at planting time—it burns the roots. On very poor and dry sandy soils we recommend the addition of about 1 ounce per square yard of sulphate of potash to be sprinkled over the surface of the ground after planting.

Naturalizing in Grass, etc. All Narcissus will grow equally well in the open or in partial shade. In the flower border, to obtain the best effect they should be planted in large groups of irregular outline, each group or clump to contain one variety only. Avoid straight lines, circles, and symmetrical designs. In the hardy border, masses of Narcissus can be planted between clumps of herbaceous plants, which hide as well as shelter the foliage later in the season.

TRUMPET NARCISSUS

Trumpet or crown as long as or longer than the perianth segments.

We offer only finest quality Double Nosed Extra Selected bulbs, true to name. We guarantee that every hundred bulbs will produce from 200 to 300 flowers, depending on the variety. Please consider this factor when comparing prices.

What Constitutes Quality in Bulbs?

Throughout this catalog you will find that we stress the quality of "Bulbs in a Class All Their Own." Just what constitutes this peculiar characteristic called "quality"? What causes some bulbs to be more reliable bloomers than others? What causes the differences in size besides their age? And, finally, why is there so much difference in prices charged?

To begin with, we handle only extra selected, hand-picked bulbs. While being cured and handled in Holland, they are treated with the utmost care.

The results of careful treatment and handling never fail to show in our customers' gardens. Many disappointments and failures with tulip bulbs are directly traceable to the careless methods employed in curing, sorting, packing and shipping. Moreover, we guarantee our bulbs to be true to name; we will replace them if proved otherwise. This insures our customers' success with any color schemes they may plan.

Then there is the matter of size. Naturally larger bulbs, carefully handled, will bear more perfect flowers than those produced by smaller bulbs of the same variety. We select for our customers just the size bulbs of the different varieties that we feel will give the best results.

To explain sizes and varying prices in still another way: Prices vary a great deal. This is understandable if you know how bulbs are sorted in Holland. The large size is called No. 1, medium size is known as No. 2, while the small ones are No. 3. Naturally, No. 1 bulbs are worth more than No. 2 bulbs mixed with No. 1 size. Again, straight No. 2 bulbs would be worth more than No. 2 and No. 3 bulbs. The illustration will help the reader to understand why mixed sizes cannot be expected to produce the kind of flowers which straight No. 1 bulbs will produce.

Just as individuals of the human race vary in size, so do bulbs of different varieties of tulip vary. The variety Indian Chief, for instance, perfects a much larger bulb than the largest Clara Butt we have ever seen. Thus as our packages of bulbs reach you, you will find that the bags of the various varieties differ in size, even though all the bags contain the same number of bulbs.

And what has been said of tulip bulbs holds good in connection with all other bulbs and all the classes listed in this catalog. You can rely absolutely upon the uniform quality and subsequent performance of every bulb that comes from "Tulipdom".

TULIPS PREPARED FOR VERY EARLY FORCING

Specially prepared Tulips for early forcing were introduced some years ago. The excellent results obtained give us every reason to believe that the demand for these prepared bulbs will increase. Numerous experiments over a period of many years have been necessary in order to perfect the method of preparing these bulbs, and we now offer them with every confidence that results will prove entirely satisfactory.

The bulbs should be potted immediately on receipt and can be brought into the greenhouse in early December. The exact date will depend upon the growing season in Holland. Each season, our trials in Holland enable us to keep our customers informed as to the best date to bring the pots into the greenhouse. They should be exposed to full light immediately after being brought in. A temperature of 60°-70° should be maintained; otherwise the stems will grow too tall.

Prepared bulbs are not carried in stock here at Oyster Bay. They must be ordered by number. Your order should reach us not later than August 15.

MENDEL TULIPS SPECIALLY RECOMMENDED FOR FORCING

This race of Tulips is the result of crossing Duc Van Tol Single Early Tulips, and Darwins, in order to obtain varieties possessing the good qualities of both classes. Mendels have the early forcing qualities of the Single Early and the stems are nearly as tall as those of the Darwins.

All varieties force very readily and are recommended for this purpose only. For the garden we strongly recommend the Triumph varieties, which bloom at the same time as the Mendels—about ten days before the May-flowering kinds.

The date mentioned is the earliest that particular variety may be brought into the greenhouse.

DAFFODILS PREPARED FOR EARLY FORCING

A special process of curing and precooling shortens the growing period for forcing Daffodils so that they may be brought into flower at least three weeks in advance of the untreated bulbs. They are therefore invaluable in that they can be flowered for Christmas and throughout the holiday season. The bulbs should be potted immediately on receipt and buried outside with a good mulch to keep out the frost. In from seven to ten weeks, depending on the variety, the flower buds will have become sufficiently advanced that they may be noticed inside the foliage. The bulbs should not be brought into the greenhouse until they have developed to the point where the buds have appeared through the neck of the bulb. In the greenhouse at a temperature of 60 degrees they will bloom in from four to five weeks.

CROCUSES SPRING-FLOWERING

The Crocus is one of the loveliest of all spring flowers. Soon after the snowdrops have put in their appearance come the Crocuses, with their large showy blooms of yellow, white, purple and stripes of lilac on a white ground. They must be grown in a more or less sunny place; otherwise the blooms do not open fully.

They are easily forced in a temperature of about 50 degrees, especially the top-sized quality bulbs which we offer. Please bear in mind that many so-called "first quality" Crocus bulbs do not belong in the top size. Extra quality is never in abundance.

We guarantee all Crocus bulbs offered to be strictly top size unless mentioned otherwise.

EREMURUS

A noble group of hardy plants from the Himalayas. The enormous, stately flower stalks, often 6 to 10 feet tall, rise majestically from a tuft of long narrow leaves and are crowned by flower spikes 2 to 3 feet long. These spikes are composed of hundreds of closely set, star-like flowers in beautiful shades of rose, yellow, bronze and white.

Eremurus should be planted in the early fall, 4 inches deep. They enjoy a well-drained, rich soil and a sunny location, and may be left undisturbed for years. Although perfectly hardy, they should have a heavy mulch of salt hay or leaves the first year after planting. When fully established, a mulch of old cow manure is sufficient. When flowering time is over, the plant disappears entirely, but reappears very early in the spring, when it is advisable to place a paper bag or flower pot over the young crown to protect it from late frost.

BUNGEI. Golden yellow flowers borne on spikes 5 to 6 feet high. Very beautiful. $3 each, $36 per dozen.

ELWESIANUS. Pink flowers thickly set in enormous spikes. Very vigorous. Blooms the beginning of June. Height, 8 to 10 feet. $3 each, $36 per dozen.

SHELFORD. The exterior of the coppery yellow flowers is tinted ruddy bronze. The flower spikes are 3 feet in length and closely set as in Bungei. Blooms just after Warei. Height, 6 to 7 feet. $3 each, $36 per dozen.

WAREI. Myriads of fine coppery pink flowers shot with bronze cover the 3-foot flower spikes. A rare hybrid of rich coloring and tall stature. Flowers just before Bungei. Height, 6 to 8 feet. $3 each, $36 per dozen.

Above prices are based on extra heavy roots that are guaranteed to bloom the first year after planting.

HYACINTHS

In beds or borders. Hyacinths should be planted 4 inches deep from the crown of the bulb to the surface of the soil or less, according to size, and about 6 inches apart or more, according to the number of bulbs available for a given space. The soil should be made moderately firm. After planting, the beds must be mulched with litter as a protection against severe weather. All varieties listed are suitable for both forcing and outdoor planting. For outdoor beds or borders, first-size bulbs produce flowers less top-heavy than those from exhibition bulbs.

Culture in pots. The pots for all bulbs should be well drained, the soil made moderately firm, and a little sharp sand dusted under the base of each bulb; then add more soil until one-third of the bulb appears above the surface.

After potting the bulbs, the pans may be plunged into a coldframe or in a sheltered spot in the garden. They should be covered with several inches of soil, and before severe frost sets in, they should be mulched heavily with leaves or straw. They may be lifted after January 1, provided the bud is already out of the bulb. Bulbs not sufficiently advanced should be left until developed.

Keep the pans in a dark cool spot until the buds extend sufficiently above the bulb. After the flowers are plainly visible, they should be kept in a slightly cooler temperature to promote sturdy growth of the plants. The flowers should not be exposed to strong sunlight at any time, for they are apt to fade. For indoor culture plant exhibition size bulbs of named varieties only.

HARDY LILIES

Many of the late-flowering Lily bulbs are not ready before the end of November. Where the ground is likely to freeze, we advise the preparation of the Lily beds or borders early in autumn, covering with 4 to 6 inches of leaves or other litter to prevent the ground from freezing until the bulbs arrive. See that they have a well-drained position. Without exception, they prefer a half-shady, moist location, protected against the hot sun. The ground must be thoroughly spaded to a depth of 18 inches before planting Lilies and must be enriched by adding equal portions of leafmold, peat and rotten manure. Plant the bulbs 6 to 8 inches deep. Varieties like Speciosum require at least 8 inches. Put some sand under and around the bulbs to insure proper drainage. Cover the beds with 6 to 8 inches of leaves or other litter, which must be removed in late spring.

LILIUM CANDIDUM. Madonna Lily. One of the oldest, loveliest and best-known Lilies. Can be planted only in the fall. Spikes of white flowers in June. Extra heavy selected bulbs, $10.50 per dozen, $85 per 100. Selected bulbs, $8 per dozen, $65 per 100.

Prefers shade. The young shoots appear very early in the spring and should be protected. Stem rooting; plant about 10 inches deep. June flowering. Extra heavy selected bulbs, $13 per dozen, $100 per 100. Selected bulbs, $10 per dozen, $75 per 100.

It makes an unusual accent plant, with flowers like huge exclamation points, in colors from white to yellow, pink and coppery tones. When well started, it soon grows into a large clump. $3 each.

IRIS, WEDGWOOD

DUTCH IRIS

Exquisite shades, ease of culture, and great dependability cause these Iris to become increasingly popular from year to year. They are thoroughly at home in sandy soil, although they will do well in any soil that is not too heavy. Because of dainty form and strong, wiry stems, they lend themselves particularly to decorative arrangements. They readily force in moderate temperature. Outdoors they should not be planted in the same place in succession; new ground each year produces by far the best flowers.

IMPERATOR. Soft blue, very broad, strong standards. Large flower of intense coloring, recommended for late March forcing. $1.60 per dozen, $12 per 100.

WEDGWOOD. This particular hybrid is one of the best of all for forcing. It blooms readily and very early. The large flowers are borne on strong, tall stems. Standards are blue, while the falls are of a paler shade, each having a yellow blotch. $1.60 per dozen, $12 per 100.

WE GUARANTEE

We guarantee our stock to be true to name. No better bulbs can be bought at any price. If any customer receives stock that proves not true to name at blooming time, it is the result of an accident; in such a case we will send the customer stock of the variety ordered in the grade sent out in the first instance. He may keep the bulbs first received.

Promptly upon receipt of the bulbs the package and each individual bag within it should be opened so as to give the air access to the bulbs. A disregard of this point may impair their blooming power.

All bulbs we send out will grow and bloom under ordinary conditions, but we have no control over their environment and the care they receive after they pass out of our hands. We therefore cannot assume responsibility for the customer's failure to succeed with them, either on account of unfavorable weather or soil conditions, improper planting, neglect, moles or mice.

At prices quoted all bulbs will be delivered f.o.b. New York or Oyster Bay. They will be packed with special care, and arrival in perfect condition is guaranteed. If there are any delays in delivery or the shipment does not seem intact, we shall appreciate prompt advice. All prices are based upon present import duties. Should these be raised, an increase equivalent to added duties will be necessary and customers will be so advised. 25 bulbs of one variety will be priced at the 100 rate, 6 at the dozen rate.
